Vocational education in Denmark

Education is an essential element in any innovative society. The Danish society's investment in education and research has paid back manifold over the years. Denmark is today a modern knowledge and production society with focus on continuous development, sustainability, and welfare.

Vocational education and life-long learning programmes play a privileged role in the Danish society. Vocational education offers a curriculum developed in close cooperation with companies and universities, where high-level theoretical information is entwined with practical education.

Why come to EUC Syd?

With its five campuses placed in four cities, EUC Syd is the largest vocational school in Southern
